

Morgan Range Upgrades

Since the last Open Prize shoot in April 2008, the Morgan range has undergone some major transformations¹

It is now about 5 metres wider, and the firing point has been widened to fit another few bays, and the back of the range has been built on. It is still a work in progress, but things are certainly happening.

The social area is now under the trees at the side of the building, and a set of steps leads down to the toilets.

